

Dan Hagerty

"Jackies Song"

Visit "Jackies Song" on MotoLyrics.com

This is the last time that I'll call you Forget the words that I once said
It's not that I lied, I meant them all the same
But things are different now, and people change
And you should know, your not to blame
Mark it down for learning yeah
Tell me how I went so wrong
Tell me why those sleepless nights
Are filled with the saddess songs
This is Jackies song
And its about
The times i tried to be something im not
This goes to her and Im sorry
I know that I will see you in the future
And you will still be in your ways
Content with never changing, while I find myself
So comfortable in your skin makes me feel just like a kid
And I could never tell you this myself
Mark it down for learning yeah
Tell me how I went so wrong

Tell me why those sleepless nights
Are filled with the saddess songs
This is Jackies song
And its about
The times i tried to be something im not
This goes to her and Im sorry
Over the hardships youve grown just like they would have never known you are different but your still the same girl tagged with indifference in cold world you stand out as a picture in my mind of a beautiful time of confusion
Mark it down for learning yeah
Tell me how I went so wrong
Tell me why those sleepless nights
Are filled with the saddess songs
This is Jackies song
And its about
The times i tried to be something im not
This goes to her and Im sorry

Visit Dan Hagerty page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.