"These Walls"

I'm Standing in the rain beneath the cloudless sky
I'm wiping tears of off my chin, from my dry eyes
I'm falling down from the dark side of town
I'm feeling black angels call my name from the skies

What's happening inside of me, it's like I'm dying for you.

What's happening inside of me, it's like my heart
turned blind.

Now I've realized that the grass beneath my feet, has all along been a cold concrete street

Oh! These concrete walls, were built to separate our hearts

Oh! These desperate falls, were made to destroy our thoughts

What's happening inside of me, it's like I'm dying for you.

What's happening inside of me, it's like my heart
turned blind.
