"Breathe City Lights"

Open up my eyes tonight, looking for a place to hide,
and dreams are what people do when their only choice
is to make a move, and I want to know if you want to?
one last chance to make a stand, I'm tired of all the people I've been, so I cut 'em off, look inside, but I would be anybody that you want me to be tonight. where'd you go my only friend, only looked for what you get, so I packed my bags, went outside, took to the streets at night, and I will breathe all these city lights.
open up my eyes tonight, looking for a place to hide,
and dreams are what people do when their only choice
