In a dry world in a barren world

Water people need water

In the desert night around the dying light

Fitful sleepers dream of water

And peaceful tribes rule their lives

By water

And seething hordes raise their swords

And kill for water

In a world of drought

Water is lord of all

In a driven world in a plastic world

Oil we drill for oil

All the meek and the mean choose their dream machines

Line up for oil we shoot up oil

And nation states stake their fate

On the price of oil

While their obedient sons prime their guns

And kill for oil

In a rundown world

Oil is lord of all

Oh there's gotta be more than this
The drudging dance the obscene kiss
Oh there's gotta be some way out
A smile a shout
In a hurting world in a hating world
Love we reach for love
In the restless heat of sweat-stained sheets
We strain for love cry out for love
In a child's look an open book
And every page is love
And pushed to shove we kill for love
We cannot kill for love
We cannot kill for love
We cannot kill love
In a desert world
In a driven world
In a doubting world
Love is lord of all
Love is lord of all
