Never thought that we could change
Or tell the world to turn away
'Cause I don't think we could face it
Never could let me inside
Did you fear what I would find

Is it real, is it right
Is it yours, is it mine
Underneath the skin
Funny now I believed everything was so easy
But I know now that something has a hold
I still love you more then you would know

In a perfect beginning
Of a perfect design
It's perfect creation
Through someone else's eyes
And a perfect reflection
Hides what lies behind
In an almost perfect life

Never thought that I could change
Tell the world that it's too late
'Cause I know that I can't take it
Never could let you inside
I'm afraid of what you'd find
But I know now that something has a hold
Do you still love me, now I need to know

In a perfect beginning
Of a perfect design
It's perfect creation
Through someone else's eyes
And a perfect reflection
Hides what lies behind
In an almost perfect life

Can you hear me
'Cause I am feeling
Just a little lost
A little insecure
Now I need you more

In a perfect beginning
Of a perfect design
It's perfect creation
Through someone else's eyes
And a perfect reflection
Hides what lies behind
In an almost perfect life

In a perfect beginning
Of a perfect design
It's a perfect creation
Through someone else's eyes
And a perfect reflection

In a perfect world
in a perfect life
