You were everything I thought I was looking for Like a diamond on a rainbow without a flaw
I gave you my own eyes so you can see it all
And everything was as it seemed, and now I'm not so sure
No I'm not so sure

Where were you when the world stopped turning Where were you when I lost all I become Where were you when I felt this burden
Weighing down on me

where were you after all things said and done where were you when I know for certain It's got, It's got the best of me

This was so much more than love, we lived perfectly I would have tasted the apple, fallen from temptation's tree
I gave you my own heart so you can live through me
But how was I to know, that I was so naive Yeah I was so naive

Where were you when the world stopped turning
Where were you when I lost all I become
Where were you when I felt this burden
Weighing down on me
where were you after all things said and done
where were you when I know for certain
It's got, It's got the best of me

Where did we go wrong
Where, Where did we go wrong
Yeah
Where did we go wrong
Yeah

You were everything I thought I was looking for

sure
Yea I'm not so sure

Where were you when the world stopped turning
Where were you when I lost all I become
Where were you when I felt this burden
Weighing down on me

Where were you when the world stopped turning
where were you after all things said and done
where were you when I know for certain
It's got, It's got the best of me
