You're not a clean slate
Waiting in a late July
For words in white

You didn't come here
Running on a full supply
But the price was right

Tags are still on you
Baby you're brand new
This is what it's like
For a boy who's never hurt before

Cover all of my sin tonight
Let me walk with you in a different light
You make the everyday
New underneath the sun

New for another one

You're not a screen play
Taken from a teenage past
That was never cast

You're not an idea
Falling in between the cracks
You were made to last

Modern is the old new
Starting over with you
The futures coming fast
For a boy who's never lived before

Cover all of my sin tonight
Let me walk with you in a different light
You make the everyday
New underneath the sun

New for another one

New underneath the sun
New for another one

Another one

Am I walking am I even on my feet
Everything I do is new to me

Everything everything
I see you do I see you do
Is perfect for a boy who Never lived before

Cover all of my sin tonight
Let me walk with you in a different light
Something new everyday
The joy you bring my way
You make the everyday
New underneath the sun
New for another one
New underneath the sun
New for another one
Another one
