Hello you, In the corner of the room
With a smile broken on your sleeve
Would you please look my way
No you don't have to stay
Just humor me

Your eye's say leave me alone
But girl I don't listen and everyone knows

I've been trying to say
That everything was falling apart for me
I just can't take it
But I hear the cure for this is you

Now summers never seemed to be this hard
I count the steps that I take
Whether they're short or far
Every single one
Brings me back to you

So don't say leave me alone
Cause' girl that would hurt me more than you know

I've been trying to say
That everything was falling apart for me
I just can't take it
But I hear the cure for this is you
I've been trying to say
That everything was falling apart for me
I just can't take it
But now I've got the cure
And it's you
