Try hard but it's never enough
And I'm all out of energy and I'm tired of fucking up
Hide scars and pretend that I'm tough
When I know on the inside life is calling my bluff

The world will knock you down
The world will take you out
There's not one motherfucker in this world
That's gonna live forever, gonna live forever

The world will knock you down
The world will take you out
There's not one motherfucker in this world
That's gonna live forever, that's gonna live forever

So sure that you've got it all down
So strong and confident, you're the king of this town
Then life sends a shattering blow
Now you've lost everything and there's no place to go

The world will knock you down
The world will take you out
There's not one motherfucker in this world
That's gonna live forever, gonna live forever

The world will knock you down
The world will take you out
There's not one motherfucker in this world
That's gonna live forever, that's gonna live forever

I hold these scars in remembrance
Loss of blood for my arrogance
Hold out my hands for deliverance
Deliverance, deliverance

The world will knock you down
The world will take you out
There's not one motherfucker in this world
That's gonna live forever, that's gonna live forever

The world will knock you down
The world will take you out

There's not one mother fucker in this world
That's gonna live forever, that's gonna live forever
