By: Andrea Corr

She drove a long way through the night

From an urban neighborhood

She left her mother in a fight
She drove a long way through the night
For a dream misunderstood
From an urban neighborhood
And her friends they talk on corners
She left her mother in a fight
They could never comprehend
For a dream misunderstood

And her friends they talk on corners

They could never comprehend
But there was always something different

In the way she held a stare
But there was always something different
And the pictures that she painted
In the way she held a stare
Were of glamour and of flair
And the pictures that she painted
And her boyfriend though he loved her
Were of glamour and of flair
Knew he couldn't quite fulfill
And her boyfriend though he loved her
He could never meet her there
Knew he couldn't quite fulfill

He could never meet her there

She's never gonna be like the one before
She's never gonna be like the one before
She read it in her stars that there's something more
She read it in her stars that there's something more
No matter what it takes no matter how she breaks
No matter what it takes no matter how she breaks

She'll be the queen of hollywood
She'll be the Queen of Hollywood

And the cynics they will wonder
And the cynics they will wonder
What's the difference with this dream
What's the difference with this dream
And the dreams of countless others
And the dreams of countless others
All believing in TV
All believing in tv
They see their handprints in a sidewalk
They see their handprints in a sidewalk
Flashing cameras on the scene
Flashing cameras on the scene
And a shining limousine
And a shining limousine

She's never gonna be like the one before

She read it in her stars that there's something more
She's never gonna be like the one before
No matter what it takes no matter how she breaks
She read it in her stars that there's something more
She'll be the Queen of Hollywood
No matter what it takes no matter how she breaks
She's believing in a dream
She'll be the queen of hollywood
Queen of Hollywood It's a loaded fantasy
She's believing in a dream

Queen of hollywood
Now her mother collects cut-outs
It's a loaded fantasy
And the pictures make her smile

But if she saw behind the curtains

It could only make her cry
Now her mother collects cut-outs
She's got hand prints on her body
And the pictures make her smile
Sad moonbeams in her eyes
But if she saw behind the curtains
not so innocent a child
It could only make her cry

She's got hand prints on her body
She's never gonna be like the one before
Sad moonbeams in her eyes
She read it in her stars that there's something more

Not so innocent a child
No matter what it takes no matter how she breaks

She'll be the Queen of Hollywood

Queen of Hollywood No she's never gonna be like the one before

She's never gonna be like the one before

She read it in her stars that there's something more

She read it in her stars that there's something more

No matter what it takes and even though she breaks

No matter what it takes no matter how s

She'll be the Queen of Hollywood

She's the Queen of Hollywood and

Her friends still talk On Corners

She's the Queen of Hollywood

Fade Out
