Restless Heart

by Michael W. Smith

on Michael W. Smith 2 (1984)

(On the ...) There are changes

Chic aa, There's a chill in the air

I see people, empty faces

Not a word, not a soul who cares

Do you give up, have you given in

To the lie that a heart never changes

Don't be fooled by what you see there

Another man with another case of

Chorus:

One restless heart who never could find love

Too many hurts to reach out again

How can he know love still wants to find him

One restless shell of a man

In a moment his life could be new

Just a moment and love could break through

Oh, finally some place to start

For a man with a restless heart

Why the fear then, why the worry

Why the walls holding love inside

When you're needed in the fury

In the fight to save men's lives

Don't you give up, don't be giving in

To the lie that a heart never changes

If you reach out, gotta reach in

Bring him into another case of

Chorus

Bridge:

One restless heart

One restless heart

He's not too low that love still can't find him

Love can reach any man

In a moment his life could be new

Just a moment and love could break through

For a man with a restless heart

Oh never a stranger again

Oh love that saved a restless man

Oh, finally some place to start

For a man with a restless heart

Oh yeah,

Oh love that saved a restless man

For a man with a restless heart
