

This Town, Going Under

"Let's Play"

Visit "Let's Play" on MotoLyrics.com

You've traded your king for an ace
Threw me back in and shuffled
But you've lost your crown and all of your grace
You've fallen from so high and to one brought the ace

I thought I could read your game
And I thought what you said was true
I know I am the one to blame
For betting so much on someone like you

You've punished me with some more love
Some more I found myself afraid of
I should have let it go and let you burn
Than come back here only to see the turn

I thought I could read your game
I always thought what you said was true
I know I am the one to blame
For betting so much on someone like you

I'm not just a card in a game
Or some more chips you can claim
When I thought I had read I folded
But you've showed me your hand to make sure I was broken

But you've seen now that it takes more than one round
To keep you up and safe from falling on the ground
But you've cheated now and luck turned over
I'm sorry but this game is over

Now run my queen, run my queen

Visit This Town, Going Under page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.