Wounded heart, I've been hopin'
There's a way gonna open To a place where It's easy to forget Every dream lyin' broken I'm so tired of eeling this regret Watching shadows turn to winter on your face
I don#t wann live her It's cold cold unforgiving place Where sorry's not enough where the words have lost it's meaning where nothing I can do can make it up to you No I can't go on living
where sorry's not enough
All the bad moves I've been makng all the trust I've been breaking all the lies have been turning you to stone Reaching out, trying to touch you begging you one more time I'm standing on the edge
Watching shadows turn to winter on your face
I don#t wann live here It's cold cold unforgiiing place
where sorry's not enough...
Apologies pour like water from my tongue
Now there's nothing left to say As I survey the damage done where sorry's not enough...
