

Smoking Popes

"Excuse Me, Coach"

Visit "Excuse Me, Coach" on MotoLyrics.com

I've lost the will to fight
Caught in the shadows of my own midnight
What became of the light?
Did it follow her out of my life?

How can I run a mile with a broken heart?
A dream becomes an enemy when it's torn apart
How can I do another push up now?
When everything I care about just said goodbye

I've never felt so small
She took my self esteem and she crushed it all
I can't even see the ball
With all of these tears in my eyes

How can I run a mile with a broken heart?
A dream becomes an enemy when it's torn apart
How can I do another push up now?
When everything I care about just said goodbye

And the lonely road ahead is paved with sorrow
But I should be strong enough for class tomorrow
I should be back tomorrow, whoa

How can I run a mile with a broken heart?
A dream becomes an enemy when it's torn apart
How can I do another push up now?
When everything I care about just said goodbye

Just said goodbye

Visit Smoking Popes page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.