I recall my father
Strong and sturdy
Solid as the ground
I recall my mother
Early morning
Waitin' for the sun
Demurred by the strength of my father
Enthroned by the grace of my mother
They'll still hang around
I recall my lovers
Their many colors
And what was never found
I recall my brothers
Cause only brothers
Never wander far
Enslaved by the weight of my lovers
Entombed by the love of my brother
They'll still be around
