I keep you far so you can't hear me pick up the beat in/and my heart is racing faster than the memories of us faded away in the heat of the days we lost by getting older.

As Autumn changes winds, I sense a secret attacking
my limbs.

On and on and on.

I'm at a fault but I'm getting closer, I've learned to open up as I'm getting older.

But I'm fading away into nothing in nowhere so baby
can you hear me?

Effortless the the sky will come to us.

The Sun, the Moon, and planets will be aligned.

You made the move then you made the exit, cause I
was too far away.

You made the move then you made the exit, now you're
far away.

Seasons changed to Spring, but you only sprang for a solo apartment.

It's going on and on and on.

I thought that maybe we were getting closer but everything I've done has always led me nowhere.

In fact, I'm looking forward to returning the favor because, darling, it's going on and on and on...

Effortless the the sky will come to us.

The Sun, the Moon, and planets will be aligned.

You made the move then you made the exit, cause I
was too far away.

You made the move then you made the exit, cause I'm
far away.

Expect nothing less than love's best.

While our dreams, fears, and intentions are realized.

You made the move then you made the exit, cause
you'd gone too far away.

You made the move then you made the exit.

You're too far away
