I saw water
I said I wanted to break, my friends
But my dependency won't let me awake
I like to think that I can work it out some
But I want to be put into the ground

Today I needed a break
My friends are climbing mountains and I'm drowning in lakes
I swallowed water right in front of her face
Just to show that she had nothing to say

I felt lighter
I impressed her

My emotions ran unopposed
I felt just like Brian Jones
I never felt that lost before
I just don't feel incredible

But me, well of course I liked you
Have time for me? I don't expect you to
I see me become a recluse
It's buried, easy to seclude

I saw water
I felt better

Well I woke up feeling unbearable
When I drowned in my swimming pool
You thought it was an accident
I just can't get along with you

But me, well of course I liked you
