

Tim Christensen And The Damn Crystals

"I'll Let You Know"

Visit "I'll Let You Know" on MotoLyrics.com

It's too late to confiscate the feeling
And I confess that more is less revealing

It should've been the writing on the wall
'Cause you don't see where I wanna go
So tonight I'll speak my mind and let you know

Blind to down I'm out of bound some guidance
And wondering and suffering in silence

It should've been the writing on the wall
'Cause you don't see where I wanna go
So tonight I'll speak my mind and let you know

Straight from my head to my heart in a million ways
The lightning just might strike in the safest place
With just a step from the edge, will I fall or fly?
This is do or die

Ah...

So what's to lose should you refuse completely?
If honesty's the best policy, believe me

It should've been the writing on the wall
'Cause you don't see where I wanna go
So tonight, my lonely one, I'll let you know
Yes, tonight I'll speak my mind and let you know

Visit Tim Christensen And The Damn Crystals page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.