you're living but you've got no soul you captivate but you hold no weight at all so watch as I start to smile

your dumber than you think you're deep you aggravate but you're always one to speak

after every party I die, die, after every party
after every party I die, die, after every party
after every party I die, die, after every party
after every party I die, die, after every party

so morning brakes us up inside playback, execution, killing time

trying your best to sleep at cocaine speed

after every party I die, die, after every party
after every party I die, die, after every party
