When we were new, I was like a child
And like a child I became disillusioned
We used to roll around like bear cubs
Now all we wrestle with is indifference
Till we both give in, did we both give in?
I thought love was supposed to spill from our hearts
I can't feel it, no fireworks, no twinkling stars
No lump in my throat, no butterflies fluttering around
I can't feel it; I can't feel anything at all.
We spend the weekends on the couch
Sure we go out but we're trying to save money
We said we'd never grow complacent
Oh, but it came on so easily
I thought love was going to tear us apart
I can't feel it no powder keg, no electrical charge
No goosebump skin no hair standing up on my arm
I can't feel it I can't feel anything all
I can't feel it I can't feel anything at all
I can't feel it
I can't feel it
I can't feel it
I can't feel it
I want to believe I love you again
Went back to the bar where we first met
And recreated the event from the booth to the bed
And I couldn't feel anything at all
I can't feel it
No fireworks no twinkling stars
I can't feel it no I couldn't feel anything at all
I can't feel it no butterflies fluttering around I can't feel it no I can't feel anything at all
I can't it no I can't feel anything at all
I can't feel it no I can't feel anything at all
