"Perfect Or Something"

There's just something about you
That stays on my mind
For days at a time when you go
It's quite like your kiss that tastes like
A warm summer night
When it hits you just right, on your lips
If you're feeling what I'm feeling now

I run, waltz right in the door
Singing your name
I fall to the floor
I've just seen a face
That could send men to war
Yeah, you're perfect, or something
And that's all I'm looking for

There's just something about you
When I look in those eyes
They paint a peach sunset surprise
It's quite like the light that shines
From young satellites
When it hits you just right on your lips
If you feel it, like I feel it now

I run, waltz right in the door
Singing your name
I fall to the floor
I've just seen a face
That could send men to war
Yeah, you're perfect, or something
And that's all I'm looking for

So, you go ahead, and you take your time
Because I've got a year, or seventy-nine
Put me on hold or keep me in line
I don't really mind
I missed every step or that's how it feels
To trip and fall head over heels
I talked to god and he said you'd been stealing
Wings from the angels
You hung from your ceiling

I run, waltz right in the door
Singing your name
I fall to the floor
I've just seen a face
That could send men to war
Yeah, you're perfect, or something
And that's all I'm looking for
