Christophe left his house that day
Never to return
Never to return and that lead to much speculation
Last report had him headed towards the bay
For he had a real love of the water
And we all know how love sometimes
Likes to sneak up from behind you

Some say he was looking for redemption
And some say he was looking for Atlantis
Some say he could look through the eye of a needle
At forty paces in the dark and still see Heaven

I say he finally found the Founder at the bottom of the bay

Christophe left his house that day
Never to return
No - Never to return and that led to theory and conjecture
Last report had him heading towards the bay
For he had a real love of the water
And we all know how love sometimes
Likes to sneak up and blind you

Some say he was looking for adventure
And some say he went looking for America
Some say he could look through the eye of a needle
At forty paces in the dark and still see Heaven
