

Cranberries, The "Every Morning"

Visit "Every Morning" on MotoLyrics.com

My god the years have passed me by Where was I hiding

I've been around the world for some time its oblivious now

The morning sun is in my eyes
It doesn't hide the lines

It does not bare a great disguise
Happy birthday baby, happy birthday

Every morning, every morning in time
We're doing fine

I don't remember being young
Was it so much fun
I don't remember feeling this free
It was not for me

I paid a price, I sacrificed, it was worth it then
My time has come I now feel young, begin again,
Happy birthday

Every morning, every morning in time
We're doing fine
