Uninvited feelings

They come without warning and they stay too long
I don't wanna feel, and if I run they'll be twice as strong
I wait for a warning, I'm waiting for some kind of sign
I try to separate , Try to separate my body from my mind
I watch the clock as the second hand slowly goes strolling by
I don't want to feel
When a loved one's time comes to die
I wait for a warning
I'm waiting for some kind of sign
I try to separate, try to separate my body from my mind

Cold feelings in the night

You know, this feeling just ain't right
And though I try I just can't hide
Cold feelings in the night

Yeah I got faith

But sometimes fear it just weighs too much I don't want to feel
Cold winds blowin' through me with an icy touch
I wait for a warning, I'm waiting for some kind of sign
I try to separate
Try to separate my body from my mind

Cold feelings in the night

You know, this feeling just ain't right
And though I try I just can't hide
Cold feelings in the night

Cold feelings in the night

You know, this feeling just ain't right
And though I try I just can't hide
Cold feelings in the night
