

Crest, The "Silent"

Visit "Silent" on MotoLyrics.com

Slow-mo fantasy,
black and white slides all around us.
A blood-stained rubber duck,
I really shouldn't swim these waters.
Lethal undertow,
caught in this web you have spun.
A claw-marked basement door,
I really shouldn't be here alone.

(chorus)
Everything falls when I think of you.
Demons whisper like lovers do.
A world of fear blends with everything I love.

A tall grey silhouette towering as I grow smaller.
I leave all fear behind,
take comfort in this silent lover.

(chorus)

My heart in my throat and seven steps.
A concrete floor and voices around me.
Beating heart and fragile stairs.
Concrete walls and darkness surrounds me.

A blood-stained rubber duck,
I really shouldn't swim these waters.

(chorus)

(chorus)

Visit Crest, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.