Wake up every day, try not to make mistakes
Just a fragile jar of clay
Driven to be heard, like a mockingbird
Silenced when to loud, refuse to blend in the crowd

Don't marginalize all we are
This is our chance to shine, our hearts will not resign
Don't marginalize all we are
One love one life to live, one hope one life to give
All we are, all we are

Blatant lies from the dead, souls filled with spider webs
Dispensing venom with each word
Damage control can't compete with the constant deceit
This is getting old, one day the truth will unfold

Don't marginalize all we are
This is our chance to shine, our hearts will not resign
Don't marginalize all we are
One love one life to live, one hope one life to give
All we are, all we are

Don't marginalize all we are
This is our chance to shine, our hearts will not resign
Don't marginalize all we are
One love one life to live, one hope one life to give
Don't marginalize all we are
This is our chance to shine, our hearts will not resign
All we are, all we are, all we are, all we are
