Forever we'll go out into the night with survival in all our eyes

With knives in hand we stab at the sands of time

To turn back and unwind

Under the death of an age we were becoming stronger than...

With terror in our eyes, we wait on these skies to bring a new chapter

I've seen life through death, under the wait of it all, we all collapse

And these eyes on survive, we will come from the fall and rise again

Like lions we tow the line, blood sewn pact with truth inside

With knives in hand we stab at the sands of time

To turn back and unwind

Under the death of age, we were becoming stronger than...

With terror in our eyes, we wait on these skies to bring a new chapter

I've seen life through death, under the weight of it all, we all collapse

And these eyes on survive, we will come from the fall and rise again

The all night lights
