Never above, never below, always beside

I chose to back off from this open wound,
To sweep this all into the flames Scream under streetlights 'til the voices take leave, life's beautiful miseries

Never above, never below, always beside

But you can't make amends when no one lends a chance to make up a time to love
But you can't make amends when no one lends

I find myself into situations that bloom, and you were right, I should do something But maybe I should be the first to know this can't be fixed overnight, but I know, it's getting out of line

Never above, never below, always beside
But you can't make amends when no one lends a chance to make up a time to love
But you can't make amends when no one lends

This is everything that stands between the sky and grave...

This is everything that stands between us, that stands between us, into the darkness take us there And through these years, I've shown my wear Though I'm hardened still I'm prepared to fight...

But you can't make amends when no one lends a chance to make up a time for love
But you can't make amends when no one lends
This is everything that stands between the sky and the grave...
