

Tony Pacino

"Love Me More"

Visit "Love Me More" on MotoLyrics.com

Here we are, no matter if the time goes by,
No matter if the world asks why
Our love is still alive.
You and I as before, with no fear for tomorrow
Will come and pass away, I know
But here we are still waiting for,
We don't know what will come
When the moonlight blows out
But we will always say

Love me more, than the flowers love the sun,
More than moonlight love the stars
More than you really are
Oh, give me more, than the river gives to the sea
Than a mother gives to her child
Give me more than you can

We pass through, as strangers in a dark night,
No chance one day to see light, no chances fall again
When we can't toll the time,
When we can't stay a while so close
And see what are we used to do
And see what I still want to do
So time will only come and we will fear no more
Cause we always remind

Love me more, than the flowers love the sun,
More than moonlight love the stars
More than you really are
Oh, give me more, than the river gives to the sea
Than a mother gives to her child
Give me more than you can

Love me more than the birds love the sky
Than the old man loves his life
More than you realize
Oh, give me more than another,
Hold the sun that I have never hold with you...

Visit Tony Pacino page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

