would you walk across the sea just to come and talk to
me will you think of me today, and do I take your breath away when I look into the sky I know I'll love you 'till I die do you ever feel that way, what can I do to make you stay

how much do you love me is it half as much as I know I love you
could you tell me 'cause you don't have to love me too if you don't know like I do then tell me quick before I make a fool of myself and of you pocket full of pennies and a paper plate that's full of sand blow a kiss aimed at your cheek and dream of you each day this week

if you don't know like I do then tell me quick before I make a fool of myself and you is this going nowhere do you laugh when I think that you care should I believe them when they say you're not there

will you think of me today, or do I take your breath
