Where are you off to this time
I promise i'm not chasing you
No one's demanding your loyalty
I just thought that maybe this time
I'd come too

Just when i need you
You pack your things and go

You made promises you didn't Always keep
But i guess that's what youth is for
I give you presents but you throw
Them all away

I've been under the impression
That i mattered to you more

Just when i need you
You pack your things and go
