"Snow Like This"

lately the sun's been hiding there's nothing much exciting about all these dreary days I miss you in so many ways bears are hibernating freezing cold is understating this morning weather I wish we were together so I'll rub away the window frost in snow like this I could get lost but I'd tunnel through to get to you then I'd never say goodbye oh it keeps on coming down and I write your name there on the ground but it disappears in frozen tears that are falling from the sky outside the snow keeps falling if you're cold then I'll come calling these winter days I find seems you're always on my mind oh if you only knew just how much I think of you I might not be so cold if I had your hand to hold

in snow like this I could get lost
