I don't understand I
And probably never will
But understanding aside
It is what it is Rebuild, rebuild, rebuild
The walls that separate us

My loneliness is my best friend
The rare occasion of infiltration Seems to reveal to me time and time again
What I thought was a curse, is really my blessing

So remember this when you forget the paths that you've chosen
Time and time again leading you down the road to nowhere
Forgive and forget fortunate that time was on your side Your eyes are opened whatever the cost never question

Everything you've ever wanted is in your reach Everyone you've ever needed is by your side Nothing will ever replace the love of a Family, of a father, unconditional
So remember this when you forget the paths that you've chosen
Time and time again leading you down the road to
nowhere
Forgive and forget fortunate that time was on your side
Your eyes are opened whatever the cost never
question

This is who you are supposed to be
This is what you are supposed to be No matter what your eyes may think they see
This is who you are supposed to be

Follow the path of the righteous Maintain the walk of the faithful servant
Lose not heart at the face of the enemy

Live by the word, and die by the sword

What doesn't kill you

Is progression

This is a lesson we can always learn

These trials, these testing times will always

Refine the tools used for future battles

In times

In times of peace prepare war
