I've got a decent proposition to all the "artists" of Silverlake
The deal is all stop singing when you stop making the music you make We're part of a dying movement
But at least we've got something to say The words are, "we're in shambles, due to those who lost their way"
Now I understand there's a lure to fitting a certain mold But bands dropping off the conveyor belt is getting fucking old
So tell all the Lo-Fi rockers, this is a Hi-Definition resent And tell Karen O herself to get on her knees and repent.
