

Trace The Follower

"Captain Falcon"

Visit "Captain Falcon" on MotoLyrics.com

Let me out

Same wall, same look
I just wish I could destroy this room

Hidden away from the rotation of the world
Breaking my flaws, building perfection
I'm spitting guilt in the face
This is the last time you'll stand in my way

I'm fucking sick of searching for the home
I have within, I can't believe I am
Considering on giving in
But is there something left to be Something left to please

This world keeps weighting down my shoulders
But mark my words, by the end of this day
I will, be inside your head

I always knew that I was meant for something more
It's time to break away, guilt won't stare in my face
(In my face)

I hate to break the news to you
But wherever you run
There's no truce to be found

I'm fucking sick of running, soon my legs are giving in
This place only acts as weights on my shoulders

Save me
I always knew that I was meant for something more
It's time to break away guilt won't stare in my face
(In my face)

I found a note, I won't let it go, let it go
I found a note, I won't let it go, let it go

