I begin with the end, the end of a not so new beginning - of a not so new nightmare. Arise to realise, that my eyes are baptised by this morning light - by the light I mourn.

As a new day dawns, another setback is spawned. Burnt in a black, across my back.

Stalking, every move I make, every step, breath I take. Haunting, every day I wake, every hope I mistake.
Every move I make, every step I take.

I cannot live without a shadow of doubt. Until this day turns into night.

Until this darkness falls.

A friendly foe will disappear into nothingness. Immune, erased, destroyed, replaced by the veil of night.
Replaced by the veil of...This night, we leave our uncertainties behind the veil of...This night, we live with new urgencies, for the night is nigh...

The end of a not so new beginning - of a not so new nightmare. Arise to realise, that my eyes are baptised to this morning light - by the light I mourn.
