You left me all alone on the dance floor
The lights went dim; I'll never be the same again
When you smashed my heart into a million pieces
Like shattered glass it hurt to pick it up again

I loved you like the pouring rain
Like disco lights and hand grenades
But the story ends in a million ways
'Til I'm down on the floor and back again

When I think of the time when I called you mine
And everything would be alright
When I dream of you I lose my words
Oh love hurts, oh love it hurts
Love hurts oh love it hurts, love hurts oh love it hurts
When I think of the time when I called you mine
Love hurts oh love it hurts

I'm still the fool, I look for smoke and mirrors
Because of you I never seem to trust the ground
No matter what we're all inside the mosh pit of love
A love that never seems to let us out

I loved you like the pouring rain
Like disco lights and hand grenades
But the story ends in a million ways
'Til I'm down on the floor and back again
When I think of the time when I called you mine
And everything would be alright
When I dream of you I lose my words
Oh love hurts, oh love it hurts
Love hurts oh love it hurts, love hurts oh love it hurts
When I think of the time when I called you mine
Love hurts oh love it hurts

Love hurts baby baby, love hurts baby baby
Love hurts baby baby, love hurts, love hurts
Love hurts baby baby, love hurts baby baby
Love hurts baby baby, love hurts, love hurts

I was like a robot, I forgot how to feel
And everything around me was set to kill

The lonely little thing that brought me back
Was your hand on my heart as I felt it crack

When I think of the time when I called you mine
And everything would be alright
When I dream of you I lose my words
Oh love hurts, oh love it hurts
Love hurts oh love it hurts, love hurts oh love it hurts
When I think of the time when I called you mine
Love hurts oh love it hurts
