The night has turned to morning
The clouds above are soaking up the sea
I'm thinking of the future
And the complex things that always worry me
The rain outside might flood my house
Am I drowning in my sleep?
All the water in my lungs might fill too high so I can't breathe

I can feel the light above my head
There must be something more to this
Uncertainty is controlling me
Yeah.

Darling are you waiting
For the stars above to grant the wish you made?
To restore your innocence
And erase the thoughts that have plagued your mind each day?
You're certain of what's right and wrong
It's not a matter of ignorance
You're just immune to love because you give yourself to everyone

I can feel the light above my head
There must be something more to this
Uncertainty is controlling me
Yeah.
When I close my eyes you're all I see
Bring me back to reality
Calm, collected, and controlled
It's overrated

Slow down; your life is just beginning
So you can slow down

I feel the light above my head
There must be something more to this
Uncertainty is controlling me
Yeah... woe oh oh
When I close my eyes you're all I see

Bring me back to reality
Calm, collected, and controlled
It's overrated
