Throw a stone and watch it roll
Why don't you see it, why don't you see it?
Sugar coated cannonballs are headed straight for me
Headed straight for me

Last night I heard the sounds, of footsteps and they were so loud

Say your mine,
I heard you crying and I hope you stay this time
Give me some time
Well I heard you saying
That your heart is mine

Knives are held to both our throats
Well then two can play
Well then two can play
And I won't sit outside these walls
When my steps are large and my heart is strong

Last night I heard the sounds, of footsteps and they were so loud

Say your mine,
I heard you crying and I hope you stay this time
Give me some time
Well I heard you saying
That your heart is mine

When is enough ever going to be enough for you?

Say your mine,
I heard you crying and I hope you stay, this time
Give me some time
Well I heard you saying
That your heart is mine
