"Extra Influence"

What are you looking for,
Don't see the point in guessing.
I'm still searching,
For the right words,
But these words,
Don't fit this face,
And how long will this journey take,

As I watch you stumble,
And I watch you fall,
I can feel the world,
Slip through my hands.
I can hear the voices in my head,
It must be,
This extra influence,

Can't seem to find a reason,
Maybe if the world stopped spinning.
Try to remember where I'm from.
Can't remember how to communicate.
Just leave me to stare into space,
As I watch you stumble,
And I watch you fall,

I don't need to set myself up.
I don't need you so,
Now you know,

It must be,
This extra influence,
Reality is too much to take.
I can't ever seem to find the reason.
It must be,
This extra influence,
Reality is too much to take,
In this state.
