Is it a sign of the times? Is man an intelligent beast trained to commit legitimate crimes? I go through history's pages and see how profit was guiding empires to slay places. Years of fire, strife and sorrow while the so-called benefactors were snatching lands. From the crusaders to the conquistadors, disrespectful conquerors treating natives like s. Today I hear Lebanese babies cry, I see imperialistic minds crossing the line. Smart bombs, stolen moments they chew other countries riches as if they were rodents. Mankind is in an open war with nature, we intervene without respecting the structure. People, they're cutting down Amazon's trees and mother earth still counts her casualties.

If I could change something in the world
