Too many stops too many reasons running, jumping around my head i wish that i could grasp onto what was left to be unsaid i'm trying to do my best and none the less, but back it up i've been trying for so damn long to get myself out if time is what leads to forever when time is gone it's someday never this time i'm gonna try to better everything that's someday never i'm holding myself still and taking everything once something - now i'm something i'm trying to keep it real but what the hell is real anyway? no one cares what i say this time i've had it up to here

if time is what leads to forever
that's someday...

that's someday never
