ive waited so long for this anticipation this could be bliss... yeah cause now i'm brought to a stand still at this moment i cherish you... i cherish you... and as the sun sets into a sea of amber with this moment which nothing can ever take and in tonight, outlined with your presence i can see that this void has been filled has been filled...

take my breath as i feel your touch emotions grasping onto me - i want this so much and there's no place that i'd rather be than here in your arms with you staring right back at me here in your arms with you staring back at me (staring back at me, back at me)

i've waited so long for this anticipation - this could be bliss
cause now i'm brought to a stand still and in this moment i cherish you i never thought that we'd go through this path we're on, being so true
take my breath as i feel your touch
here in your arms with you staring right back at me
here in your arms with you staring back at me (staring back at me, back at me)

everything's so right - i just want you to know this feeling you give to me i'm holding on to show you how much i care and i'll never let you go never let you go...
never let you go...
i won't ever let you go...
