jerry stand up
pull back the curtains and let some light in quit your job becasue you hate it and it's wasting you once upon a time you were running singing to the ground every morning once upon a time you were

am i the only one who's noticed that you've been missing remember yourself man remember that you have chance and possibility

once upon a time you were crazy jerry you're not getting any younger all you need is fresh air a nice new suit and a walk in the park every day or two every day in every way

(repeat chorus)
