there is no need to throw your arms around and there is no need to ask unless there is some doubt if you are comfortable with two feet on the ground you don't need wings now (x2) have you set down your course or are you out of control, my dear?
are you accidentally part of some involuntary movement here? we thought we knew it so well we could do it with our arms tied behind our backs and our eyes shut tight i thought i knew it so well i could stop so i stopped and we can't start again stand under the hole in your roof let the rain come in and fall down on your head it's a simple joy you can bring upon yourself it's a simple something new, something else trees stand in a perfect line trees stand at attention not much time has passed but already she likes concrete better than grass and i don't think we'll last so i stare up at the sky and it hurts my eyes maybe i'll go blind maybe all i'll see is, all i'll see is sunshine sunshine (x2)
just trying to sound i'm not trying to sound i don't wanna sound like this you're the last day of april every year you're grey, feeling for something anything, you can't have oversize, owning the road pulled by a current, tossed over in the wind you focus your sights and try to stare up at the sky and it hurts your eyes maybe you'll go blind or maybe all you'll see is, all you'll see is sunshine sunshine walk in a straight line you waste energy in the daytime you know exactly what you're doing, doing sometimes (x2)
