

Something With Numbers

"In The Red"

Visit "In The Red" on MotoLyrics.com

Her heartless, angry words
The false promises that she made
The way she hurt herself
So foolish, I tried to help

Now I surrender

These lines are in my head
The signs are in the red
No chance to change whats said
In the red

His fear of becoming
The man he swore he would never be
Found escape in an altered state
So na?ve I believed I could help him see

Now I surrender

These lines are in my head
The signs are in the red
No chance to change whats said
In the red

I only wanted to protect them
I tried to guide but crashed instead
Now I sit alone and understand
They'll never change
I wish I never gave a damn
All my energies were spent in vain
My words stemmed from the love I had
But they claimed that I felt I was better than them

These lines are in my head
The signs are in the red
No chance to change whats said
In the red

