Well, it's all over now
Oh, I'm not gonna beg to differ
So unfit to be lounging with her
You've been running around now
Running around, running around

But you made your mind up
And you couldn't believe your luck now
How the chemicals combined
And still how you were running around now
Running around, running around now, now, now

So go and fake one more mistake
And choose to be so cruel
I can't defend myself against almighty moon

Oh, it's all over now
It was peachy for a while, then bitter
The start was flawless but you'll end a quitter
Always running away now
Running away, running away

When you sweat the truth out
Little something pulls you right back in trust
Little nothing's to be pulling tricks
Just to keep you running around now
Running around, running around now, now, now

So go and fake one more mistake
And choose to be so cruel
I can't defend myself against almighty moon

Wake up, wake up
You made your last mistake
The world can be so cruel
I won't abide the tide of your almighty moon

My old almighty moon
I know your tricks too well, now please
