Looking for something to pass on through
Searching for something to say to you
Even though everything has been said
Somehow there's still something left to add

And while the satellite's asleep
Somewhere it's midnight out there
And while I'm barking at the moon you sing your heart out to a tune hoping you'll never grow old

Oh Oh

Hoping you'll never grow old

Oh oh

I know it may take some time
To get this day off your mind

Sifting through all the remaining files
Counting down all the remaining miles
Drifting off into a different night
Paralyzed by all of the warning lights
Waking the patient satellites
Sleepy but ever lit eyes
Heavily dropping distance love

They never once misplaced a call
I hope they never grow old

Oh Oh

I know it may take some time
To get this day off your mind

I know it will take some time
To get this day off your mind

I miss you
Happy

Birthday
Girl (x4)

I miss you...
