Fireplace man,
Oh, won't you help me?
It is time,
It is time for the clockwork dance.

Coming from your cold spacecraft,
A dark, and lonely road.
It is time, it is time,
For the clockwork monsters have found me.

And I know it's just a nightmare.
And I will face these monsters with a brave heart.

The clock is broken,
But I still hear...
The hands counting down
The years, days and seconds,
Of this slow path.

Since I was just a child,
I've waited...
And now it's time,
Now it's time,
For the clockwork masquerade.

And through all these years,
You never change,
You never age.
It is time,
It is time,
Doctor, pick a star and say goodbye.

And I know it's just a nightmare.
I will face these monsters with a brave heart.
The clock is broken,
But I still hear,
The years, days and second,
Of the slow path...

And I know it's just a nightmare.
(Just a nightmare...)

I will face these monsters with a brave heart.
(Monsters...)
The clock is broken, but I still hear,
(Clock is broken...)
The hands counting down,
The years, and days, and second...

The hands counting down,
The years, and days, and second,
Of the slow path...

The hands counting down,
The years, and days, and second...
The hands counting down,
The years, and days, and second,
Of the slow path...
