"Get It Back"

Stealing, lying, how does it feel
What you tried to hide
What you tried to conceal
So you give back what you tried to hide
Don't tell me to look on the positive side
You may have gained something material
But you lost my respect
No matter how hard you try
That's something you'll never collect
Ask me why I ignore you
When I can't look you in the eyes
It's only when the damage is done
That you realize what you did was wrong
And I just can't put it aside
I thought we were on the same level
But I see you've always lied
You can't get back my respect
